

Crop Protection Regulatory Conference: a post-patent perspective

8-9 September 2026 | Sheraton Hotel Brussels

ECCA's policy on event registration

Terms & Conditions

Event fees are inclusive of the applicable VAT and are charged per participant. These fees include registration, access to the ECCA (The European Crop Care Association) Crop Protection Regulatory Conference: a post-patent perspective and relevant event materials.

Registration must be completed through Eventbrite. Registration is only confirmed once full payment has been received, and after the registering participant's role within their organisation has been evidenced or verified by ECCA. The organisers reserve the right to reject any registration at their sole discretion. In such cases, any fees already paid will be refunded.

Payment

Payment can be completed directly through the Eventbrite platform or via bank transfer when an invoice is requested. If you experience any difficulties with registration, please contact the event organisers at ecca.conference@ecco-eu.com and all efforts will be made to assist you.

Cancellation policy

Cancellations made by September 7 at 13h00 CEST will incur a 100 EUR management fee plus the Eventbrite platform fee. Later than this, no refunds will be issued. Written notice must be sent to ecca.conference@ecco-eu.com.

Substitutions (Name changes)

If a registered participant is unable to attend, a substitute may be nominated by September 7 at 13h00 CEST. Written notice must be sent to ecca.conference@ecco-eu.com. A processing fee of 50 EUR (excluding VAT) will be charged.

If the ticket is transferred to a participant whose applicable registration category carries a higher fee, the difference in price must be paid before the name change can be finalised.

Programme

The event schedule and speakers are accurate as of the latest version of the programme, available on the conference website. The organisers are not liable for changes to the programme due to speaker cancellations or other circumstances beyond their control.

Presentations

Presentation materials shared during the event are available only to registered participants who attend the event. With the agreement of speakers, these presentations will be sent to participants after the event in a protected PDF format.

Disclaimer

ECCA is not responsible for any loss, injury or damage to any property, regardless of the cause. This disclaimer does not affect the liability of third parties such as transportation providers or service contractors.

Force majeure

In the event of cancellation or significant disruption due to circumstances beyond the organisers' control, the organisers cannot be held responsible for any costs, damages or expenses incurred by registrants.

GDPR

Participant information will be processed by ECCA and ECCO (The European Consulting Company) to manage event communications and provide updates on future ECCA events. Photography and video recording may occur during the event. By attending the event, participants give their consent to the use of such media for online publication.

Upon request from a registered participant, the organisers reserve the right to share the conference participants list (name and organisation). By registering for the event, participants consent to the inclusion of their details in the participants list unless they explicitly request otherwise. Any such request for exclusion can be submitted at any time to ecca.conference@ecco-eu.com.
